LEARN HOW TO MAKE YOUR PRESENCE FELT

This workshop is inspired by Dr Mahler's coaching with women in leadership who need time to sit and think, obtain guidance, learn new methods and rehearse to face the challenges moving forward.

Diversity and Inclusion means cultures are changing, but like the proverbial fish, sometimes we do not recognise those behaviours and do not have the skills or professional processes to handle what is before us. We also don't have the opportunity to take time out to get to the bottom of what is going on.

This retreat will cover the areas of:

- Understanding the challenges of a patriarchal work culture
- Diagnose current skills of engagement
- Learn new skills
- Practice those skills
- Diagnose patterns of handling emotion and feedback
- Learn new algorithms for difficult engagement
- Practice those algorithms tailored to your specific need

We will tailor all engagements to your specific scenarios.

OUTSTANDING PROGRAM, OUTSTANDING VENUE

Nestled in the foothills of the Great Dividing Range, the Healesville Country Club is the perfect location for the Yarra Valley retreat. The food is superb, the venue and view is magnificent and the accommodation is 5 star.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

This retreat is an outstanding professional development course that will have a very positive impact on making your presence felt. Numbers are strictly limited to allow for individual attention, so reserve your place early.

ABOUT THE RETREAT SESSIONS

The workshop will delve into your personal style, scenarios, skills and processes for engagement. Each participant will have a journal into which you can note your change process to embed and reinforce the work into the future.

The workshop will help you:

- Understand the situations and behaviours around you
- Recognise your current responses
- Reorganise your physical and vocal responses
- Feel in control
- Be more confident
- Have positive strategies to handle situations as they arise

This workshop will include running meetings, networking, board meetings, media and staff engagements.
