BACKGROUND

Rarely does one find a powerhouse of academic insight, observational excellence and dynamic delivery to shed new light on a topic that's critical to us all.

Louise's inimitable style and deep insight in her field are shared in keynotes and coaching internationally, where high-stake leadership beckons.

A foremost expert in body language, voice and emotion, Louise has a PhD in Business, and degrees and masters in Organisational Psychology as well as Music.

Her skills as a Master Practitioner in Neuro-Linguistic Programming pull together her academic study and years of professional performance on the European opera stage to put her in a league of her own.

In the process of completing her award-winning PhD, Louise observed a 'missing ingredient' in corporate leadership around the unsung wisdom of the mind-body-voice connection she calls Vocal Intelligence. These blended skills bring powerful observation that elicits discernible, positive change and together with an understanding of the psychology behind high-stake engagements and the structures for handling emotion, combine to build the Mahler Method.

The Mahler Method teaches you the vital techniques to 'be heard' in hostile environments.

AUDIENCE

Louise works with C-suite, politicians and those in high-stake service industry.

Her high-energy sessions are presented with palpable expertise and large doses of humour to achieve positive personal breakthrough.

She has a strong following of global leadership teams in Washington DC, IT executives in Barcelona and Florida, key finance leaders in LA, and Consultancy partners in Australia.

Her individual work has been appreciated by Andrew McKenzie, BHP and CEOs from cross-industry sectors, including many flourishing female leaders.

Positive results abound in lessons in the boardroom, presentation, inclusion, consultancy and sales – all the fields where presence matters and influencing skills sort the amateur from the professional.

Louise aims to give participants a greater awareness of state, how you express yourself, habitual patterns and how to get the results you dream of achieving.

PRESENTATION

Louise is a delight to experience. Once heard, never forgotten, she is brilliant and hilarious in her insights, observations and impersonations.

Her audience is treated to a mixture of transformative thinking combined with a polished artistic performance.

Her focus is on highly participatory activities and her signature style is fun and candid, with high doses of humour, reflection, energy and passion. Participants can't help but get involved and otherwise sedate groups find themselves breaking patterns to come out enlightened and more empowered through the experience.

Highly sought after for her opinion on body language, vocal psychology and behaviour under stress, Louise is often called on to appear as an expert commentator on radio and television and regularly writes for prominent publications.

Her book 'Resonate' is the bible for everyone who wants to 'be heard'.

TESTIMONIALS

"The feedback is still coming in from yesterday and it's all glowing. We've had some inspirational speakers over the last year and you have topped the charts for the most captivating and insightful yet. People are literally walking up to each other saying a long deep hiiiiii. It's gorgeous. People thoroughly enjoyed every single moment of your talk. Thanks again for bringing such fabulous energy, humour and insight – we all benefited enormously."

Sheila Langham, Head of Tech and Operation Services – AMP

"It was a fantastic and engaging session! I know our entire team felt the same and have been reflecting on all of their takeaways and learns."

Rhonda Allen, Human Resources – Apple Retail

"An AMAZING workshop. The team absolutely loved having Louise there and got a huge amount out of it. She nailed it!"

Jarrold Graetz, CEO – Light Melbourne

"Dr Mahler's session was a particular highlight. Both Board and Senior Executive Team were extremely well engaged with the coherence and presentation style. I congratulate Dr Mahler on her insightful and informative work."

Christopher Puplick AM, Board Chair – Justice Health and Forensic Mental Health Network

"Everyone can learn something new from Louise, from the beginner at public speaking to the accomplished professional who does it every day for a living. Because she has found a new and fresh bag of tricks we all enjoy trying out – again and again – to become sharper, more convincing and inspiring. To let our true self and potential to surface. Suddenly the horrors of being on show become fun. Go on – try a few and then you'll want more."

Andrew MacKenzie CEO - BHP

"Dr Louise Mahler spoke at our annual Leadership Conference in October 2017. There were about 160 attendees from across Australia and New Zealand. Her presentation was not only very interesting, it was extremely entertaining. It is not easy to get a bunch of senior managers, most of whom have engineering or finance backgrounds, to get involved in a session like this, but Dr Mahler achieved it wonderfully. Importantly, there were clear messages for people to take away to help them in their leadership roles. I have no hesitation in recommending Dr Mahler as someone who will not only provide variety to your conference (that is, a shift from focusing on your organisation) but will add a dose of energy with very valuable insights into the important skill of effective communication."

Michael Sharp, Group Head of Corporate Affairs and Investor Relations – Downer Group

"Dr. Louise Mahler is an amazing and inspiring speaker. Our whole team were captivated by her insights and thoroughly enjoyed her keynote. She even managed to convert the skeptical. From the moment she walked in the door, she had our attention with her humor, and engaging style - it was a great time for everyone and very beneficial. I feel like our whole team walked away with something. I would definitely recommend Louise to anyone looking for something inspiring, eye opening, educational and fun!"

Lisa Petrocetto, Single giving Programs Manager – The Heart Research Institute.

"I have worked with Louise as part of my role in Toastmasters. Louise provided vocal training to our club in an environment that fostered learning. Several members have since gone on to win regional speaking competitions which is a testament to her great work. I recommend her without reservation!"

Abe Khamis, Specialist – Data Centre & Cloud Transformation – Optus

"In attending over 3-months worth of Crotonville and other training sessions by GE, I have not seen a better trainer in action than Dr Mahler."

Claire Pierce, Aurizon Account Leader – GE Transportation

"Thank you for all the time you spent with our team, both in the lead up to the conference and during your highly entertaining presentation. The content was perfect for the outcomes we were aiming to achieve and I know that all of us, especially our store managers, will be much better communicators and engagers of our teams as a result of your simple, yet effective messages."

David Matheson, COO – Kmart

"Dr Louise Mahler is a skilled professional who is providing individual development insights and practical solutions that ensure you will take it to the next level. Passionate and pragmatic I can thoroughly recommend her should you be considering further increasing your presence and presentation capability, Louise will set you up for success!"

Theresa Mills, Executive General Manager – Guild Superannuation Trustee Services
